H2O Energy Flow Teams Up with Extreme Energy Solutions to Offer New H2O Energy Flow Bottled Water to Regional Markets

H2O Energy Flow LLC, from Cedarburg, Wisconsin pairs up with Extreme Energy Solutions of Ogdensburg, NJ to make H2O Energy Flow Bottled Water available to regional markets and retailers.

Cedarburg, Wisconsin (PRWEB) July 18, 2015

Recently H2O Energy Flow LLC, of Cedarburg, Wisconsin teamed up with Extreme Energy Solutions Inc., of Ogdensburg, New Jersey and with ESLC Inc. of Hewitt, New Jersey to help launch the H2O Energy Flow product line in the northeast region; making the product available for both direct to consumer and through selected retailers.

H2O Energy Flow is structured water, designed to offer a balanced pH level of 7.8, and is offered in a 16.9 fluid ounce bottle. The water is bottled using a proprietary technology that aids in structuring the water so when it is bottled, it remains "live" water. H2O includes the essential of minerals of calcium and magnesium, when it is bottled at the source in north central Wisconsin.

Unlike other bottled water which may be bottled from a public source, such as a public well or from municipal water reservoirs, that sometimes may contain fluoride or chlorine; H2O Energy Flow does not contain any arsenic, chlorine, chromium 6, or trace pharmaceuticals, which sometimes are found in water that is bottled and sourced from recycled water treatment centers.

H2O also does not contain any bisphenol A (BPA's), or methyl tert-butyl ether (MTBE's), which can be found in some bottled waters. BPA's and MTBE's have been known to be used in the making of plastics, including plastic bottles in which bottled water is packaged. Many water companies have banned the use of these types of bottles.

Extreme Energy Solutions was commissioned as a beta distributor at first, whereas Extreme would test different business models on how to bring the H2O product to market. Extreme was able to test the market as it offered H2O direct to consumers in an early consumer market study and through a select few local retailers. The results have been positive.

Bob McCaffrey, from Parsippany was one of the first individuals in New Jersey to give H2O a try, "I enjoyed the refreshing value of this product, and it is one of the best bottled waters I have tasted in a while."

"I once thought water was water, but that all changed the second I tried H2O Energy Flow. It's the purest, freshest tasting water I have ever had and I can truly feel the difference. I look forward to opening each and every bottle," contributed Dennis Kotnour, from Wisconsin.

Extreme Energy Solutions is offering a special promotion, where the first 100 people who go to <http://extremeenergysolutions.net/get-a-free-quote.html> and send the promotional code in the message area "H2O Today" will receive a free sample of the product by the company. Participants are required to provide a mailing address in order to receive their free sample.

Mark Bublitz, a Therapeutic Nutritional Counselor and Founder of H2O Energy Flow LLC, hails from the Metro Milwaukee, Wisconsin area. He founded H2O Energy Flow in 2013 after becoming inspired by the book, The Hidden Messages of Water, by Masaru Emoto.

"I had to change the things in my life regarding my own personal health when at the age of 50; I faced serious consequences for the poor choices I made own life. It was after extensive research that I began to realize that the importance of quality water and the affects it can have on our state of being," offered Bublitz, "I founded H2O so that I could share with others a quality product that too could make a difference in their lives."

"I chose to work with Extreme Energy Solutions and Sam Burlum because we share similar core values. Extreme and Burlum have been successful in offering other products into the retailer marketplace that are environmentally sustainable, and so we saw this working partnership as a good fit."

Extreme Energy Solutions is currently a distributor of H2O Energy Flow in the northeast. Sam Burlum has lent his expertise to H2O in helping the company to be positioned to offer its product beyond the borders of Wisconsin.

"We enjoy working with Mark Bublitz and H2O Energy Flow. Our clients have provided us positive feedback about the product as they beta tested and sampled it. Our retailer partners have also welcomed the product with open arms. We look forward in seeing the product on the shelves of selected retailer partners in the near future," added Samuel K. Burlum, CEO and President of Extreme Energy Solutions Inc., Ogdensburg, New Jersey.

Burlum also operates a small business consulting firm, located in Hewitt, New Jersey.

"What got me excited about working with Mark is that he is a down to earth person who appreciates and understands the fundamentals of offering quality products and services that people need."

"One of the most important basic building blocks to life is clean and healthy water. Mr. Publitz has a sheer passion for this industry and we wish him and H2O Energy Flow much success," continued Burlum.
